

Micro MX for Turf

Micro MX is a micronutrient blend providing superior bio-stimulation. Micro MX contains beneficial microorganisms that help break down plant residue, raising organic matter content of soils. These microorganisms break down lignin and other common components. Micro MX also contains microorganisms that degrade unwanted chemical residues commonly found around farming and Turf operations. This micronutrient blend also provided food for existing micro-organisms and plant systems.

Micro MX helps to reduce levels of contamination in soil from pesticide residues and petroleum hydrocarbons including chlorinated compounds. This activity provides food for other microorganisms in the food chain as well as establishing a better soil environment for the growth of micro-organisms and plants.

By helping to degrade plant residue rapidly, Micro MX helps to establish and maintain soil structure that is optimum for plant growth.
